NORTH VANCOUVER MAYOR OPENS NEW OFFICE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

North Vancouver, British Columbia (September 18, 2006) – Peak Potentials Training Inc. has commemorated its move into a new office building by hosting a ribbon-cutting ceremony with District of North Vancouver Mayor Richard Walton and Wayne McIntyre, President and General Manager of the North Vancouver Chamber of Commerce.

“This move will make a huge difference,” says Phil Beakes, Acting Chief Operating Officer for Peak Potentials. “Our company has grown exponentially in the last year, and we’re still expanding. The extra space in the new office will allow us to work more efficiently, which means inspiring more people and helping them achieve success in all facets of their life.”

With 170 employees and annual revenue growth at 30 percent, Peak Potentials is one of North Vancouver’s largest companies. A real “rags to riches” story, the organization has come a long way from its beginnings from a home office in 1993. A proud member of North Vancouver’s economic community, Peak Potentials’ success further illustrates the rising economic tide in North Vancouver and across B.C. as a whole.
